* Type net-setup eth0 to specify ethernet configuration.
* If your PC is on an ethernet local network, you can configure by hand:
  - ifconfig eth0 192.168.x.a (your static IP address)
  - route add default gw 192.168.x.b (IP address of the gateway)
* To be sure there is an ssh server running, type /etc/init.d/sshd start.
  You will need to create an user or to change the root password with passwd.
* Available console text editors : nano, vim, qemacs, joe.
* Graphical web browser in the console: links -g www.web-site.org.
* WARNING : Never mount anything on /mnt! It would freeze the system.
  Use mkdir /mnt/mydir and mount on /mnt/mydir instead.
* Ntfs-3g : If you need a full Read-Write NTFS access, use Ntfs-3g.
  Mount the disk: ntfs-3g /dev/sda1 /mnt/windows
* Graphical environment : use either Xorg or Xvesa.
  Type wizard to run the graphical environment (or startx but it may fail)
  X.Org comes with Window-Maker and you can use several graphical tools:
  - Partition manager:..gparted
  - Web browsers:.....firefox-2.0 and dillo
  - Text editors:.....gvim and leafpad
