Page 24: Square jabara

Layered squares give this jabara a sharp, well-defined look.

The way they become increasingly and regularly smaller, as if they have been graded, shows off the beauty of the garment even further.

1 Draft a pattern for the vest using a design that is fitted at the waist and d with a flare in the hem.

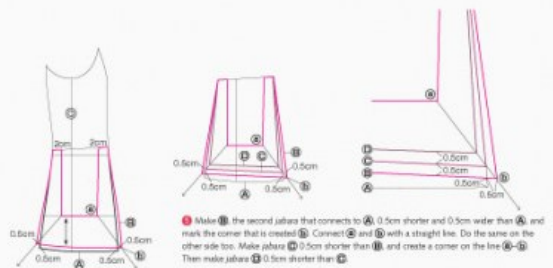

2 Make the jabara on the left bodice panel.

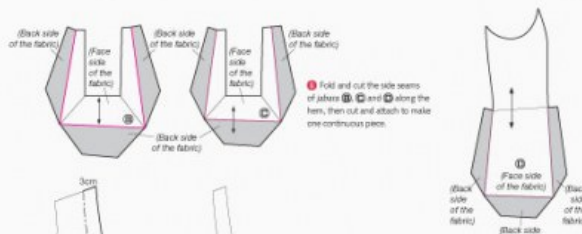

3 Fold the shoulder darts and chest darts and develop the pattern.

4 The side piece on the bottommost layer of the jabara will be the section below the high waist. Make a U-shaped opening in the centre and mark it 5.

5 Make 6, the second jabara that connects to 4. 0.5cm shorter and 0.5cm wider than 4, and mark the corner that is created 7. Connect 7 and 8 with a straight line. Do the same on the other side too. Make jabara 9 0.5cm shorter than 8, and create a corner on the line 6-7. Then make jabara 10 0.5cm shorter than 9.

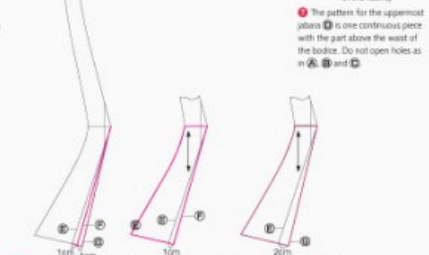

6 Fold and cut the side seams of jabara 6, 7 and 8 along the hem, then cut and attach to make one continuous piece.

7 Draft a pattern for the facing.

8 Make the pattern for the jabara on the right front edge. Mark the facing in 9 as 10. In the same way as the jabara on the left side, make the patterns for 11 and 12 so that they become smaller the higher they get. As 11 and 12 are to be sewn and then turned inside out, two pattern pieces are required.

9 The pattern for the uppermost jabara 13 is one continuous piece with the part above the waist of the bodice. Do not open holes as in 6, 7 and 8.
